AGENDA

- 9:00 – 9:15am Welcome and Overview
Melissa Ontiveros and Shelley Mann-Lev, NMPHA Co-Presidents
- 9:15 – 9:20am NMPHA Ancestral Land Acknowledgement Initiative
Sheena Tallis-Tallman, NMPHA Ancestral Land Acknowledgement Work Group Lead
- 9:20 – 11:00am KEYNOTE: Putting Communities First: A Journey Toward Health Equity
Anthony Fleg, MD, MPH
Shannon Fleg, MA
Brenda Pereda, MD, MS

Grappling with deep-rooted inequalities in United States history and examining how racism impacts health is long overdue. This silence and invisibility have delayed our ability to address the root causes of illness. A renewal, realignment, and commitment to racial justice is needed along with the skills to challenge and transform normative practices that harm our communities.

In New Mexico, we urgently need intersectional approaches that center our patients' identities and lived experiences. Strategies that use anti-oppression pedagogies are necessary to transform health care delivery so that everyone can reach their highest level of health.

11:00 – 11:05AM BREAK

11:05am – 12:00pm SESSION 1: Participants will select a presentation

1A: Mobilization of Luna County with Asylum-Seeker Arrival

Rebecca Sanchez, MSW, Chris Brice and Barbara Ammirati

The presenters will address the collaborative efforts of a small community to assist in the needs of thousands of families and individuals, seeking asylum in the United States. Luna County showed that with collaboration and care, that anything is possible. County, State, and Organizational representatives will present the efforts put forth to address this humanitarian effort.

1B: Improving Access to Healthcare for People with Disabilities

Lisa McNiven, MPA, Stan Ross, MA, Ingrid Hendrix, MILS, AHIP, Dianne Lindstrom and Holly Ridgeway

Access to Healthcare from the perspective of People with Disabilities will be discussed, with a short presentation followed by a panel of experts including consumers with disabilities. The short presentation will present information on barriers to healthcare may result from attitudes, access to healthcare, lack of education regarding people with disabilities, inaccessible healthcare facilities, equipment, transportation issues. Panelists will include an access specialist, administrator of a medical facility, a physician and an advocate with a variety of disabilities. Each panelist will explain from their perspective what has worked or not worked in terms of access to healthcare for this population. Participants will have an opportunity to ask questions so as to improve access to healthcare resources.

1C: Policy, Advocacy, and Child Well-being in New Mexico: How Taxes and Budgets Create a Culture of Health

Jacob Vigil, MSW and Derek Lin, MPH

Child well-being is the result of larger systems shaped by social determinants of health-including taxes and state budgets. Participants will leave with an understanding of these links, as well as key ways they can advocate for child well-being in the spheres of politics and the media.

1D: Healthy Housing Standards: Building the Foundation to Empower New Mexicans to Live in Healthy Environments

Alex Coyle and Alex Gallegos

Learn about progress made during the 2020 legislative session to prevent gun violence, along with updates on reproductive rights and funding for farm-to-table programming, school-based health centers, and the New Mexico Community Data Collaborative. Leave with concrete ways to remain involved in this year's health policy efforts.

1E: The Organic Farmer Health, Safety & Life Survey, an Innovative Approach to Occupational Safety and Health

Daisy Rosero, Gabriel Gaarden, MPH, Francisco Soto Mas, MD, PhD, MPH

The Organic Farmer Health, Safety & Life Survey (OFHSL), is a new tool used to assess psychosocial factors related to safety and health among organic farmers. It proposes a holistic perspective currently absent in occupational safety and health research and practice. This presentation discusses the process and the comprehensive conceptual framework that informed the development of the OFHSL.

IF: A Recipe for Workplace Equity – Paid Family & Medical Leave and Other Economic Security Policies

Tracy McDaniel, MPH and Stephanie Welch, JD

A healthy NM workforce depends on policies that ensure that workers can stay home when they experience illness or face unexpected family caregiving responsibilities. This presentation will provide details on a proposed PFML program and other workplace equity legislative proposals. Participants will also learn how they can join the growing movement to support NM workers now and in the future.

12:00 – 12:30pm LUNCH BREAK

12:30 – 1:25pm SESSION 2: Participants will select a presentation

2A: 2020 NMPHA State Legislative Health Policy Priorities: Updates from the State Legislative Session

Barak Wolff, Pam Roy, MS, Nancy Rodriguez, BA, Susan Wilger, MPAff and Miranda Viscoli, MA

Learn about progress made during the 2020 legislative session to prevent gun violence, along with updates on reproductive rights and funding for farm-to-table programming, school-based health centers, and the New Mexico Community Data Collaborative. Leave with concrete ways to remain involved in this year's health policy efforts.

2B: Utilizing Mobile Applications and Virtual Visits to Reduce Inequities in MCH Home Visiting Services

Mary Gaul and Mono Livingston

Mobile phone applications and video communication platforms have proven to be useful tools for telemedicine, but have had limited applications to community health workers and home visitors. Northwest First Born is currently piloting the first mobile phone app for home visiting and virtual visits in the state of New Mexico.

2C: COVID and Collaborative Care: Meeting the Needs of Indigenous Communities

Anthony Fleg, MD, MPH, Dakotah Jim, MS and Jennifer Nanez, MSW, LMSW

2D: Prevalence of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) Among Youth Incarcerated 2011-2018 in the New Mexico Juvenile Prison

Andrew Hsi, MD, MPH, Lori Zigich, MPH, Sarah Steadman, JD and George Davis, MD

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs), traumatic personal experiences and family environments that create toxic stress, occur at high levels among youth entering incarceration in the New Mexico Juvenile Prison. Youth with more ACEs have significant and greater legal, educational, psychiatric, and medical comorbidities that should focus program and policy priorities.

2E: A Closer Look at the McKinley County Substance Use Prevention Program

Daisy Rosero and Francisco Soto Mas, MD, PhD, MPH

McKinley County alcohol related (AR) deaths are more than twice the state and more than three times national rates. Despite efforts, AR health indicators remain relatively unchanged. This presentation aims to discuss the theoretical framework and approach of McKinley County's substance use prevention program and the recommendations for a community lead approach.

2F: Capitalism as a Systemic Determinant of Health

Enrique Cardiel, MPH

This presentation will discuss how our political-economic system support ill health. The recent issues with COVID-19 highlighted examples of where our society helps to create ill health.
