Christopher Hudson, McKinley Community Health Alliance

Recognizing Marsha McMurray-Avila for her years of service

Various organizations and agencies will have exhibit tables in the East and West Halls of History starting at 8:00 am.

This will be a great opportunity to educate the public and policymakers about the importance of public health to the overall well being of New Mexicans. A great deal of attention and resources are devoted to the downstream effects of poor health policy, with too little attention paid to upstream policies that can have a much greater effect on the health of New Mexicans.
